

2025 Tax-Exempt Income from Fidelity Funds

Information for state tax reporting

This information may help you prepare your state income tax return. If you owned shares of any of the Fidelity funds listed in the table on the following pages of this letter during 2025, a portion of the tax-exempt interest dividend income you earned may be exempt from your state’s income tax.

Fidelity calculates and reports the portion of tax-exempt interest dividend income that may be exempt from your state and/or local income tax for the state-specific funds in the “State/Local Tax-Exempt Income from Fidelity Funds” section of your 2025 Tax Reporting Statement. You will need to calculate the portion of tax-exempt interest dividend income that may be exempt from your state income tax for the municipal funds that are not state specific. To determine this amount, multiply the total exempt interest dividend you received from the fund by the percentage listed in the table on the following pages for the state in which you are filing your income tax returns. Although state tax laws differ, many states do not tax interest on the bonds they issue or on interest from municipal bonds issued within the same state. Interest income from securities issued by U.S. territories and possessions is exempt from federal, state, and local income tax in all 50 states. For this reason, you should add the percentages listed for any U.S. territories or possessions to the percentage for your given state.

The following example shows how Massachusetts investors who owned the Fidelity® Intermediate Municipal Income Fund would calculate that portion of the tax-exempt interest dividends they received from the fund that may be exempt from Massachusetts income tax. For the purpose of this example, assume an investor had a tax-exempt interest dividend distribution of $1,000.00.

Exempt interest dividends (from your 2025 Tax Statement)	Total percentage of qualifying interest dividends from MA and U.S. territories (from table) MA 0.98%, GUA 0.00%, PR 0.56%, VI 0.00%	Interest dividends you may be able to exclude on your state tax return
$1,000 x	1.54%	= $15.40

Tax-exempt interest dividends from municipal mutual funds are generally exempt from federal income taxes. Nonetheless, you are required to report this income on your 2025 federal income tax return.

Your state tax return will contain specific instructions for reporting dividends, including tax-exempt interest dividends. You may also wish to consult your tax advisor, who is most familiar with your circumstances and the laws of your home state.

As always, consult your tax advisor as to whether all or some portion of the dividend income derived from a fund's investment in municipal bonds issued by your home state and/or U.S. territories may be exempt from state income tax.

² Indiana and Utah residents should refer to the letters, also available on the Fidelity Mutual Fund Tax Information page, that provide information on the treatment of distributions from Fidelity municipal funds based on Indiana and Utah's state laws.

As always, consult your tax advisor as to whether all or some portion of the dividend income derived from a fund's investment in municipal bonds issued by your home state and/or U.S. territories may be exempt from state income tax.

The table below shows the income earned from the obligations of each state and territory as a percentage of the total tax exempt interest dividend income earned by your fund during 2025
